COMPLAINT FOR INJUNCTIVE RELIEF AND DAMAGES

Plaintiff PRACTICE MEDX, LLC d/b/a BIO-ALLERGENIX ("Plaintiff"), by and through undersigned counsel, hereby files suit against NANCY FRAGUS ("Fragus"), an individual, RANDY RINKLEIB ("Rinkleib"), an individual, and JOHN MICHAEL MOONEY ("Mooney"), an individual, AARON RICHARDET, an individual ("Richardet"), MARKUS THOMPSON, an individual ("Thompson"), and BRIAN SELF, an individual ("Self") (all collectively, "Defendants") and as alleges as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. Plaintiff seeks damages and injunctive relief for violations of the Lanham Act, misappropriation of trade secrets, tortious interference, unfair competition, and conspiracy. All of these claims arise from Defendants' wrongful promotion and sale of their LAX7000 allergy relief system, a system which incorporates Plaintiff's trade secret information and which is being marketed under a name confusingly similar to that of Plaintiff's BAX3000 allergy relief system.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §1121 (actions arising under the Lanham Act), 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (actions arising under the laws of the United States), 28 U.S.C. §1338(a) (Acts of Congress relating to trademarks), 28 U.S.C. §1338(b) (pendant unfair competition claims) and 28 U.S.C. §1367 (supplemental jurisdiction).

3. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendants under §48.193 Fla. Stat. because they: (a) operate, conduct, engage in, or carry on a business or businesses within this state or have an office or agency in this state; (b) committed the tortious acts complained of herein in this state; and (c) are engaged in substantial and not isolated activity within this state.

4. Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§1391(b) and (c), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to the instant claim occurred in this District.

PARTIES

5. Plaintiff, doing business as Bio-Allergenix, is a distributor of allergy treatment systems. Plaintiff has its principal place of business in Palm Beach County, Florida.

6. Upon information and belief, Defendant Fragus is sui juris and resides at 11 Emerald Isle Way, Bakersfield, California 93314. Defendant Fragus does business under the name Tri Healthcare, Inc., but no such corporation or fictitious name could be located in a search of the California Secretary of State's online directory.

7. Upon information and belief, Defendant Reinkleib is sui juris and has a residence or place of business at: 5251 Cosumnes Mine Road, Somerset, California 95684.

8. Upon information and belief, Defendant Mooney is sui juris and has a residence or place of business at: 1980 Broadway, Placerville, CA 95667.

9. Upon information and belief, Defendant Richardet is sui juris and has a residence or place of business at: 211 Racine Dr., Suite 202, Wilmington, NC 28403.

10. Upon information and belief, Defendant Thompson is sui juris and has a residence or place of business at: 3839 Wyatt Way, Wyatt, AZ 85297.

11. Upon information and belief, Defendant Self is sui juris. Self's address has not yet been determined.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

12. The BAX3000 Allergy Relief System is based on patented technology licensed and manufactured by Star Tech Health Services, LLC of Orem, Utah ("Star Tech").

13. The BAX3000 Allergy Relief System is based on U.S. Patent No. 6,142,927 titled "Method and Apparatus for Treatment with Resonant Signals," which issued November 7, 2000. Plaintiff has been the exclusive distributor of the BAX3000 allergy relief system since 2007. Pursuant to its distribution agreement with Star Tech, Plaintiff resells BAX3000 allergy relief systems to healthcare professionals.

14. The BAX3000 trademark is very well known in the industry and has acquired an enormous amount of goodwill.

15. Technical information about the BAX3000, as well as training manuals and other documentation related to the system constitutes confidential information. Plaintiff derives independent economic value from its confidential information due to it not being generally known to or readily ascertainable by other persons who could obtain economic value from its disclosure or use. Accordingly, Plaintiff takes reasonable efforts to maintain the secrecy of its confidential information, including requiring the execution of non-disclosure agreements from those with whom the information and documentation must be shared.

16. Defendant Reinkleib filled out an application to purchase a BAX3000 System and submitted it to one of Plaintiff's distributors. The distributor informed Reinkleib about the BAX3000 system and the confidential nature of the information related to its use and application in the trade.

17. Upon information and belief, rather than purchasing the BAX3000 system, Reinkleib decided to circumvent Plaintiff and contacted Star Tech directly. Reinkleib requested that Star Tech manufacture a competing allergy relief system that would operate in a similar fashion to, but be "bigger and better" than, the BAX3000.

18. Upon information and belief, Reinkleib, working together with the other Defendants, attempted to negotiate a distribution agreement with Star Tech for an allergy relief system that would compete with the BAX3000, which they intended to call the LAX7000. Upon information and belief, Star Tech provided substantial information about the BAX3000 system to Defendants under a non-disclosure agreement.

19. Upon information and belief, at some point in this process with Star Tech, Defendants obtained confidential and trade secret material relating to the BAX3000 system, including a business plan, a training manual, and proposed marketing materials.

20. Upon information and belief, Star Tech ultimately refused to manufacture a competing product for Defendants.

21. Upon information and belief, Star Tech also refused to allow Defendants to circumvent Bio-Allergenix's contract and refused to provide Defendants a process based on the underlying invention for their use.

22. Recently, Plaintiff has received inquiries from healthcare professionals about a new allergy relief system called the LAX7000. LAX7000, as applied to allergy relief systems, is confusingly similar to Plaintiff's trademark, BAX3000.

23. These healthcare professionals have been contacted by sales representatives about the LAX7000 who are claiming that the LAX7000 is "bigger and better" than the BAX3000. These healthcare professionals have expressed confusion as between the BAX3000 and LAX7000 and the sources of the two systems.

24. Upon information and belief, the LAX7000 system operates in essentially the same fashion as the BAX3000, and incorporates trade secret information underlying the BAX3000.

25. Upon information and belief, Defendants are promoting and selling the LAX7000 system.

26. All conditions precedent to the filing of this action have either been performed or have been waived by the parties.

27. Plaintiff has retained the undersigned counsel in connection with this action and is obligated to pay them a reasonable fee for their services.

By such wrongful acts, Defendants have caused and, unless restrained by the Court, will continue to cause serious irreparable injury and damage to Plaintiff and to the goodwill associated with the BAX3000 mark, including diversion of customers from Plaintiff resulting in lost sales and lost profits, and the consequent unjust enrichment of Defendants.
